PEDRO IS A STAKE WINNER.

DEFEATS TEMACEO IN A CLOSE FINISH IN THE MAGNOLIA STAKES.

Jockey Nutter at Work Again and Rides Two Winners—Colloquy Outspeeds Toy Boy—
Louise Macfarlan Wins.

New Orleans, La., January 15.—The Magnolia Selling Stakes at one mile, an annual fixture, resulted in the fastest race of the present season on the reconstructed Fair Grounds track and enabled Pedro to gain a sensational victory. At one stage the Texas crack appeared hopelessly out of contention, but when a quarter out he came with an electrifying burst of speed that put him in the lead and in a sharp last sixteenth drive, he held his own well enough to win by a neck from the fast coming, but poorly managed Temaceo. Nutter, on the latter, blundered badly in allowing the Ellison representative to delay his challenge, which ultimately encompassed his defeat. Hyperion II., the favorite, ran fairly well, but was not good enough to beat the first pair. The time of the race, 1:40½, over the soft track, was equal to 1:39 or better on a hard, fast course. The stake had a net value to the winner of $1,770.

The tabulated history of the Magnolia Selling Stakes is as follows:

Year.	Winner.	A. Wt.	Jockey.	Val.	Time.
1898	Boanerges	109	T. Powers	$ 650	1:50
1899	Deering	98½	Mitchell	650	1:42½
1900	Aloha II.	93	A. Webber	650	1:42
1901	B. G. Fox	107½	Coburn	1,325	1:40
1902	Cambrian	104	Fuller	1,580	1:40½
1903	By Ways	97	L. Wilson	1,360	1:40½
1904	Spencerian	99	Shaver	1,270	1:40½
1905	M. Daingerd	112	A. Brown	1,650	1:45½
1906	Stake not run
1907	Judge Post	94	Jas. Hen'sy	1,765	1:40
1908	Pedro	100	McCahey	1,770	1:40½

Continuous rolling and harrowing of the track put it in condition sufficiently good enough to cause owners of the better class horses to chance starting them, with the result that today's program was one of the best in weeks. Close finishes were the order throughout the afternoon and the big attendance was amply rewarded by witnessing good sport. Three of the best short distance sprinters met in the second race at five furlongs and it was a spirited battle for the entire trip between Colloquy and Toy Boy, the filly setting the pace and winning with but little space to spare.

Burlew & O'Neill's Angelus showed improvement by taking the third race at seven furlongs from a good band of three-year-olds, St. Ilario outstaying Apache in the closing drive for second place. The running of the race disposed of the theory that E. T. Shipp was a Derby prospect. He displayed a flash of early speed, but tired badly after going a half and can be put down as a speedy non-stayer, with a liking for about five furlongs.

Jockey Nutter signaled his return to the saddle by piloting Telescope to victory in the opening race. He had to be ridden out at the end to beat Hannibal Bey. In contrast to his good rides on Telescope and Angelus, were the poor ones on Temaceo and Sea Salt. His ride on the latter was especially a bungling effort and was directly responsible for her defeat.

Meadowbreeze upset calculations in the fifth race by winning as his rider pleased. The poor showing of Mandzarra, the favorite, was the cause of unfavorable comment. She is a rank in-and-outer and a poor betting medium.

Jockey S. Heidt was suspended for six days by the starter for disobedience at the post.

Jockey A. Martin signed to ride for H. B. Duryea and T. D. Sullivan for the remainder of the racing season here.

Bookmaker I. Hammerschlag departed today for San Francisco and will operate a book at the Oakland track.

John Ferriss, Jr., is schooling Bonnie Kate through the field and expects to make her a good one at jumping.

Judge Clarence McDowell is improving, but was still confined to his room. William Shelly is acting presiding judge during his absence and clerk of the scales J. Campbell as associate judge.

The judges received a letter today from Algernon Daingerfield, assistant secretary of the Jockey Club, informing them that the suspension against the horse Gilpin, barred at the Kenilworth meeting, expired with the close of that meeting.

PROMISING SISTER TO JACK NUNNALLY.

F. P. Schwartz, trainer for W. E. Lemmon, has at his California ranch a two-year-old full sister to Jack Nunnally. Mr. Schwartz says she is a better looking than the holder of the American five-furlongs record was at her age, but, although he has offered her to several horsemen at Oakland for $1,500, he cannot get any one to go to the ranch to have a look at her. He says he did not bring the David Tenny filly to Emeryville because he could only get five stalls at the time he was ready to come and as his other yearlings were further advanced, he brought them and left Nunnally's sister on the ranch. Trainer Schwartz breaks his yearlings in harness and he had just commenced with the filly about the time he was ready to leave for the Emeryville track.

DERBY WINNERS THAT FAIL AS SIRE.

Families that Flourish in Successive Generations
While Others Melt Away.

It is not every Derby winner which has a successful career at the stud. The qualities that go to the making of a racer do not necessarily make a sire of the same animal, says a writer in the Pall Mall Gazette. Bruce Lowe discovered that certain families were specially endowed with the faculty of producing winners, and horses capable themselves of producing winners. These he called "sire families." It is, therefore, interesting though not surprising, to find that the most conspicuous failures among the Derby winners now at the stud are outside the group of sire families, which consists of Nos. 3, 8, 11, 12 and 14. The Derby horses to which I refer are Sir Visto and Common, both No. 4's; Jeddah, No. 1, and Sir Hugo, No. 19. Lowe himself declared the No. 4 family to be extremely effeminate; the statistics on which he based this conclusion, and those collected by Mr. Meek from a much wider area, strongly bear out his view. It so happens that Rock Sand, for which August Belmont gave $125,000, is a member of this family, and one will, therefore, follow his career in America with all the greater curiosity. The figure system does not pretend to prove that a No. 4 sire is bound to be a failure; all that it claims to show is that, arguing from past results, the probabilities are against his doing well at the stud. There have been, and there will be, exceptions to the general rule. The most successful sire in South America at the present time is Orbit, son of Orme, and he belongs to the No. 4 line. However, the fact remains that of the comparative failures among Derby winners, two belong to this group, whose chief characteristic is effeminacy.

It is very unfortunate that Sir Visto himself has not proved one of the exceptions. A son of Barcalaine, he is one of the few sires at the stud tracing back to Matchem. This particular branch of the great thoroughbred family badly needs strengthening. For generations its very existence has been threatened. It has produced only six of the 128 winners of the Derby, viz: Didelot (1796), Simolensko (1813), Tiresias (1819), West Australian (1853), Blink Bonny (1857) and Sir Visto (1895). But for the lucky advent of Barcalaine it would practically have been extinct at the present time, for through that son of Solon we got Wolf's Crag, Marco, Morlon, Winkfield and Freemason, as well as Sir Visto. Marco has given us Beppo, which is to commence his career as a sire this coming season at the Glasgow Stud Farm at Enfield and through Winkfield (now nearly at the far end), we get Winkfield's Pride and Bachelor's Button.

Beppo comes of the No. 2 family, which holds its own very well indeed as a producer of good sires; so that, apart from his own individual merits, which are considerable, he has much in his favor. Regarded from the "Figure" standpoint, Bachelor's Button's prospects are not so good; but he is a horse of great character, so we may venture to hope that he will prove one of the exceptions. Winkfield's Pride is, of course, in France. Apart from these sons and grandsons of Barcalaine, the Matchem family has representatives in King's Courier (a descendant of West Australian through Australian and Spendthrift), and Australian Star, which is a great grandson of The Peer, son of Melbourne. These two horses were imported from America and Australia respectively. For all practical purposes it may be said that the responsibility for the continuation of the family rests upon Beppo and Bachelor's Button, for Sir Visto seems to be incapable of transmitting his own qualities to his offspring.

The case of Common is indeed a sad one. Immediately after he had won the St. Leger in 1891, and so gained the "Triple Crown," the late Sir Blundell Maple gave Lord Alington and Sir Frederick Johnstone $75,000 for him. The following day Sir Blundell was offered a substantial profit on his bargain by a foreign government, but he sent the grandiloquently worded reply: "England requires Common's services." And, sure enough, our breeders willingly paid the fee of 200 guineas which was demanded. Now, fifteen years later, we find Common, which is at the Egerton Stud, Newmarket, advertised at $95 only. Speaking from memory, only one of his offspring ever showed form within measurable distance of his own. I allude to Newsboy, which was unquestionably a wonderful two-year-old. So highly had he been tried that there was talk of matching him at weight-for-age against Pretty Polly. Why has Common failed? Are there any reasonable explanations admissible apart from the one that he inherits the weakness of the No. 4 family?

The case of Sir Hugo also gives rise to some rather melancholy reflections. Though his defeat of La Fleche in the Derby occasioned the utmost astonishment, he was by no means a bad horse and his record was good enough to warrant the fixing of his stud fee at 150 guineas. He now commands nine guineas only. It is just possible, however, that in the near future we shall see his daughters in considerable demand. Frank Gill, one of the most successful three-year-olds on the American turf during the past season, is by the St. Simon horse, Collar, out of a Sir Hugo mare, and this has awakened breeders to the fact that there may be some virtue in the blood after all. Both Hermit and Macaroni can be cited as Derby winners which earned the gratitude of all interested in the welfare of the thoroughbred by reason of the super-

SANTA ANITA RACING IS FEATURELESS.

Paradise Queen Proves Herself a Good Two-Year-Old—Diamond Fails His Supporters.

Los Angeles, Cal., January 15.—Racing here today was perfectly featureless, not even being punctuated with a run-up. With "Red" Walker and J. B. Dunn at Oakland there is little likelihood of any bidding up of horses in the near future.

Jockey Shilling drew a fine of $25 from starter Dwyer today for misbehavior at the post. He has been offending considerably lately and the fine was just.

Twenty-two books drew in again today but as usual fared badly. The layers of odds have been having a hard road to travel here thus far, in fact, never before in the history of southern California racing has the public selected so many horses which finished inside the money. This, in a measure, accounts for the somewhat stiff place and show odds posted.

John Shields' Hastings gelding, Diamond, was considered the best thing in his race, but acted badly at the post, causing the field to be held for nearly ten minutes before the starter could spring the barrier to let them go. Diamond broke with the others, ran in a contending position and finished resolutely, but was easily passed in the stretch and finished unplaced.

Christine A. won the fourth race after trailing the pace-making Bazil and Badly Used to the stretch and was the second favorite to reward the speculative public. One of the most exciting incidents of the afternoon was the close finish between Bazil and Badly Used after running lapped throughout the mile and an eighth. Bazil was tiring in the closing strides, but lasted long enough to save second place by a head.

The third odds-on favorite was returned the winner when Harvel won the fifth race in commanding style. Laudable was an easy second, while the finish between the next three horses was close, only heads separating them.

The withdrawal of La Gloria and Martha Jane left the first race an open affair from a speculative standpoint. Lady Vashli was made a lukewarm favorite, being smartly backed just before post time, but when it came to the running of the race, was not good enough to overtake the horses which finished in front of her. She was off none too well, but closed up fast in the stretch run. Nonie Lucille made the pace at a fast clip, but tired suddenly and was nosed out for second place by Adoration. Succeeded was another of the Texas horses at the track to join the winning list in taking down the purse.

Paradise Queen had to be much the best of the juvenile racers which went to the post in the second race. The Carman filly broke slowly and was in close quarters until reaching the turn into the stretch, where G. Burns found an opening next to the inside rail, bringing his mount to the front with a rush to win going away. Joe Gattens, a first starter, was prominent throughout and in a sharp last sixteenth drive, gamely outstayed the recent winner, Banthel, for second place. Frank Clancy essayed to set the pace, but tired in the closing drive.

Jockey Eddie Dugan was set down for three days yesterday for what the patrol judge called sharp practice. He cut across Magazine with Creston in the running of the fourth race when turning into the stretch, causing G. Burns, on Magazine, to pull up for an instant and, as the finish was of a sensational order, the interference might have cost his mount the race. Dugan was also reprimanded for his offense, but was permitted to ride out an engagement he had made before the fine was imposed with W. L. Curl on Ben Stone, which won the last race.

HAMILTON HAS A GOOD TURF COURSE.

Hamilton, Ont., January 15.—The Hamilton stakes including the Derby, which will be run during the spring meeting, will soon be announced. They will close for entries February 20, the same day as the Buffalo fixtures.

An innovation which is sure to please owners and race-goers, will be in use for the first time this year. The full mile grass course, which is inside the mile and a sixteenth regular track, built originally for the trotters, was seeded down several years ago and after much care and attention, a good turf has been secured and is the only turf track in Canada. The programs this spring will provide that the last race each day will be run on this track and this feature it is believed will prove popular.

It is unofficially announced that while the value of the stakes will not be increased this year, the overnight purses will be for not less than $400.

V. POWERS REPORTED IN GOOD LUCK.

New Orleans, La., January 15.—It is reported here tonight that jockey V. Powers has signed to ride for the next two years for Herman B. Duryea, the New York turfman. Powers, it is said, will receive $10,000 a year under the contract, which is to begin with the opening of the eastern season next April. Powers is under contract to J. C. Cahn and his work in the saddle since the opening of the winter season here has placed him second to none of the riders regularly in the saddle. He can ride at less than 100 pounds, and his record since the first of the year is twenty-one winning mounts out of a total of sixty-seven.

BLANCHE C. IN GOOD FORM.

WINS ALL THE WAY IN THE FEATURE RACE
AT OAKLAND.

Old Mansard Takes a Sprint—Margaret Randolph's
Surprising Race—Deutschland Scores in Brilliant Style.

Oakland, Cal., January 15.—Barney Schreiber's grand-looking horse, Deutschland, which James R. Keene pronounced one of the most perfect specimens of the thoroughbred on the turf, scored a brilliant victory over a quintette of fast performers in the closing race at Oakland today. The Sain-Derfargilla stallion started a hot favorite and never gave his backers a moment's uneasiness in the actual running.

From purely a racing standpoint the juvenile race overshadowed the remainder of the card in interest and importance in that no less than five reputed cracks were engaged in Trance, Seattle, Copitt, On Parole and False Nun and there was much curiosity as to the outcome. Griffin's filly reversed her previous running with Seattle and disposed of Keene's fleet youngster, On Parole, in such decisive style as to confirm first reports as to her good class. Trance's win today under circumstances the reverse of favorable was a revelation to horsemen and public alike.

Jack Keene's victory with Mansard, just up from Santa Anita, was popular. The old sprinter was favorite and made good with ridiculous ease.

J. S. Hawkins' stable was represented by Blanche C. and Margaret Randolph. Both were mediums of big killings and made their opposition look like so many cart horses.

Bidding up in selling races was frequent during the afternoon. Asa Hamilton figured oftener than anyone else in these transactions. He boosted Blanche C. from $800 to $1,000 and Margaret Randolph from $900 to $1,200; both were bought in by their owner with the customary $5 advance. Galves, winner of the first race, was also bid up from $600 to $900 by James Neil, but was retained. J. S. Hawkins claimed Joud for $1,125.

Johnny Lyons, entered in the sixth race and generally regarded as having a good chance, fell while at exercise during the morning and was withdrawn.

Jockey J. McIntyre, recently from France, was ruled off the turf by the Oakland stewards today. The specific allegations against McIntyre are that he pulled Gronobol, Trance and Blundy on the occasion of their recent inexplicable defeats. Moreover it is declared that he was so drunk when mounting Love of Gold in her last race that he was unable to tie the knot necessary to shorten the lines and Harry Mack, the owner of the filly, was compelled to do it for him.

Glorious weather prevailed and nearly 10,000 race-goers were at the track.

Technically, but two favorites were returned winners and they carried the bulk of the money wagered in their respective races. The beaten public choices were not greatly fancied and consequently the ring lost a lot of money in the aggregate.

GRAND RACE HORSE AND GREAT SIRE.

When on July 3, 1883, Matt Dawson, acting on the advice of Fred Archer, purchased St. Simon for the Duke of Portland at 1,600 guineas, the finest buy in horseflesh of all time was brought off. Not only was the son of Galopin a superlative and unbeaten race horse—he was never, by the bye, entered for either the Derby or St. Leger—but he has proved a perfect gold mine, having earned for his owner at Welbeck upward of two hundred and fifty thousand pounds in stud fees, besides all His Grace's own mares that St. Simon has been mated with, says "Audax" in Horse and Hound. I mentioned the other day that this champion of champions is wonderfully fresh and well just now, and he is a fair marvel, for he will be twenty-seven next Wednesday.

Speaking of St. Simon and Welbeck causes me to wonder if breeders are not inclined nowadays to run away too much with the idea that the mare is the all-important factor in producing racers of merit, as take for instance some of the Duke of Portland's matrons. He had at one time no fewer than five Oaks winners at the Welbeck Stud in Amiable, La Roche, Memoir, Mrs. Butterwick, and Wheel of Fortune, surely a quintette that from their breeding and performances ought to be expected to bring forth good stock; and yet, what have they produced? Amiable has generally been barren or had dead foals, the only one to race out of her being the wretched Amnesty; nor has La Roche thrown a winner, her sole runner being Ormesby. Memoir's best is The Scribe, but Mrs. Butterwick has done more, having produced Greatorex (a quite smart but very unsound horse, that could not be trained after his two-year-old days), Kirkby, and Wombwell (the latter, too, being difficult to train). As to Wheel of Fortune, who was much the best racer of the lot, and one of the best mares that ever looked through a bridle, she turned out a most terrible disappointment after the Duke bought her in 1881, although prior to this she had thrown a useful horse in Oberon.

TRAINER KEENE TO GO TO RUSSIA.

Oakland, Cal., January 15.—J. O. Keene is now at Los Angeles for the purpose of conferring with his brother, G. H. Keene, relative to selling all of their horses with the exception of a possible half-dozen. J. O. Keene expects to leave this country shortly for Russia where he trained the horses of a leading nobleman with marked success several years ago. He has not made any definite arrangements for an engagement abroad and does not intend to close any contract until after his arrival, when he will be better able to determine what he wants to do. He intends to return to this country next fall and resume the management of a racing stable with his brother. The horses which the Keene Bros. may decide to retain will continue to carry their colors under the management of G. H. Keene, who will also look after the Kentucky farm which they own, during the absence of his brother.

MARRONE DENIES DRUGGING HORSES.

Washington, D. C., January 15.—Joseph Marrone, who recently filed suit against the Washington Jockey Club for $50,000 damages, for barring him from the track at Benning during its meeting last November and for ruling off the horse St. Joseph, has filed an amended declaration. In this declaration he emphatically declares that he has never been guilty of "doping a horse, meaning thereby the administration of a drug to a horse with intent to procure artificial stimulation and abnormal performance by such horse in a trial of speed or endurance, which ever was universally regarded as discreditable and dishonorable."

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The present whereabouts of jockey Willie Schade, who has not ridden in any races since last March, is desired at this office.

J. Simon Healey, foreman of H. B. Duryea's stable at Sheephead Bay, was married last Sunday to Miss Florence Suppe and the couple is now in the south on an extended wedding trip.

The stockholders of the Coney Island Jockey Club at their annual meeting, held at the Windsor Arcade in New York Monday, re-elected all of the old members of the board for another year.

David Gideon has left New York on his regular mid-winter trip. He will visit a number of southern points, including New Orleans and possibly will go out to Los Angeles to take a look at the new track at Santa Anita Park.

H. R. Brandt, who is training Barney Schreiber's string at New Orleans, has made application for stable room at the Gravesend track and plans to ship Tom McGrath and several other horses there about the middle of next month.

Oxford and Helen B., in James McLaughlin's stable at Sheephead Bay, have both been fired and turned out. McLaughlin has sold First Whip, an eleven-year-old brown horse by Duke of Montrose—Theora, to Harry Hunter, who will use him as a hunter.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

[Communications without names and addresses of senders will not be answered or noticed; nor will any answers be sent by mail.]

J. C., Chicago. Do not know positively, but think not.

O. W. P., Kansas City, Mo. Net cash due the backer, $15.62.

Fleming, St. Louis, Mo. Cannot inform you. Have no knowledge of any.

B. J. G. and X. G., Chicago. The parlay won and should be paid. It was a case where that rule did not apply.

J. B., Louisville, Ky. The bet on Beaumont was a draw regardless of where his stablemate finished, there being no separate place or show betting.

A. L. S., Chicago. The parlay lost. The plain intention was to back that two-year-old of Hildreth's; it ran and had it won you would have been entitled to payment.

Wm. F., Chicago. You are entitled to place money on Keator unless the bookmaker operates under the rule that added starters run for his book and had informed you of the rule.

H. J. K., Chicago. The man denied having made such an offer. Said he had a system of his own better than any others. It was to back the winners and leave the losers for other people to back.

S. C. T., Chillicothe, O. It is a matter to be decided by your own sense of what is right in the premises. Put yourself mentally in the other fellow's shoes and look the case over from that standpoint.

lous ease. Jomud, pocketed and unnecessarily interfered with at critical points, got up for second place with a belated rush. Maxfress ran forwardly and gamely throughout. Lassen failed to stay after strenuous pursuit of the winner for six furlongs. Boloman, prominent to the stretch, also tired badly. Captain Hale was unable, seemingly, to raise a respectable gallop. The same applies to Funny Side. The winner, entered for $900, was bid up to $1,200 and bought in.

Winner—B. h. by Sain—Derfargilla (trained by D. Henry).
Went to post at 3:51. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Deutschland, from a flying start, set the pace throughout, won cantering and outclassed his opponents. Judge Nelson held forth in the rear for six furlongs and got up for second place in a cyclonic stretch rush. Dollie Dollars, away badly and forced into the deep going throughout, loomed up menacingly mid-way of the stretch, but tired finally. Plausible, after running in prominent contention to the last fifty yards, gave way quickly. Janeta was badly outpaced all the way and is not ready. Sibari showed speed, but was outclassed.

Hannibal Bey forced a stiff pace in the early running and held on well in the closing drive. Gambrinus closed a gap and came with a rush near the end. Donna Elvira ran well, but suffered from interference in the early running and was in the worst going on the backstretch. Topsy Robinson ran fairly well, but can do much better. Rebo tired after showing the most speed for a half. Husted had a rough trip. Beatrice K. was knocked back early. The winner was entered for $500; no bid.

Winner—B. f. by Russell—La Tour (trained by W. L. Lewis).
Went to post at 2:30. At post 5 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same. Colloquy, showing his usual order of speed, set a fast pace from the start and, holding on gamely throughout the last furlong, outstayed Toy Boy. The latter ran a good race, followed the winner closely and made a game finish. Momentum, away fast, was prominent throughout and a fast going third. Morales, away in a tangle, was gaining fast at the end and is in good form. Come On Sam, a fast breaker and speedy, was prominent for the first half, but tired in the stretch drive. Suffice showed speed, but tired in the last quarter. El Dorado closed a gap. The others were outclassed here.

Angelus, showing improvement, was a prominent contender from the start and in the good going throughout, came fast through the stretch and won going away. St. Ilario was in close quarters through the stretch drive, but finished fast and outstayed Apache at the end. Apache ran a good race and wore E. T. Shipp down after going a half, but tired near the end. Tamar made up much ground, ran a good race and finished gamely. Rural Boy was outpaced for the first half, but came fast at the end. Dew of Dawn had no mishaps. E. T. Shipp showed speed, but quit badly after going a half.

Winner—Br. g. by Masetto—Palms (trained by C. B. Daniels).
Went to post at 3:32. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same. Pedro began slowly and trailed far back for the first three-quarters, then moved up fast, secured good going in the stretch and, standing a hard drive gamely, outstayed Temacco. The latter, probably best, was kept too far back in the early running and, finishing with a rush, was wearing the winner down at the end. Hyperion II. was made too much use of in racing with Sally Preston and tired in the last quarter. Sally Preston showed superior speed for the first three-quarters and set a fast pace, but tired and lost ground fast in the stretch. Pasadena showed improved form and was a prominent contender for three-quarters. Grimaldi showed speed, but tired in the last quarter. The others were always outpaced. The winner was entered for $2,000; no bid.

Winner—B. h. by Meadowthorpe—III Wind (trained by J. W. Duffy).
Went to post at 4:04. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won handily; second and third driving. Meadowbreeze, well ridden and kept in the firmest going, ran to his best form and, after disposing of the early contenders, came away in the stretch and won well in hand. No Quarter ran consistently, closed an early gap and finished fast. Refined, shuffled back soon after the start, closed a big gap steadily and was gaining at the end. Prince Hohenlohe ran fairly well. Escuteon ran well and was in the worst going throughout. Handzarra showed the most early speed and set the pace fast for a half, but quit in the stretch. Frank Lord also quit after going a half and can do much better. The winner was entered for $1,200; no bid.

was prominent for the first half, but tired in the stretch drive. Sumce showed speed, but tired in the last quarter. El Dorado closed a gap. The others were outclassed here.

Healey, whom I met today coming in from Bel-

Healey, whom I met today coming in from Belmont Park, where Mr. Wilson's horses winter, lives at Westchester, but would now be the owner of a home at Queens, L. I., but for the tie-up of the Knickerbocker Trust Company. In that bank the trainer has $19,000. On the morning of the day the bank was closed, Healey's wife had a tip that the institution was in trouble and sent a telegram from Westchester to her husband to come to town and try to save his deposit. The telegram was sent to Belmont Park, and Healey, who was racing some horses at Jamaica, did not get the telegram until the next day. Probably it would have done him no good, anyhow.

The depositories have an excellent chance, however, to now realize by degrees on their money. J. Russell Soley, the very able lawyer who for more than a year has been the counsel for the Empire City track, is also the counsel for many of the depositors of the Trust Company, and by dint of hard work he expects to have good results soon. James Rowe is said to have at least $50,000 in the Trust Company.

Those of your readers who recall the defeat of The Parader in the American Derby of 1901, or some of them, will no doubt agree with Healey that the colt should have won the race. He was off last, was a half-dozen lengths in front at the end of a half mile, and at the end of a mile his lead was still large. Then he ran out wide, and Robert Waddell and Terminus both beat him home. The jockey who rode The Parader was "Joe" Piggott, who has for several years been in Russia. Healey says that Piggott acted like a crazy man throughout the race, shouting like an Indian to the other jockeys, "If you come near me I'll ride you into the lake."

The result of the Derby that year was a great blow to the pride of eastern turfmen. The Parader was certainly the second best of that year, Commando being the best. Neither was up to a first-class performance in the Realization, as was well known. Commando was lame some time before the race. The Parader, after he won, left a streak of blood all the way down the track from the judges' stand to the gate opening from the track to the stables. Both his feet had spread badly, yet he achieved his greatest distinction under those circumstances. Truly, the gameness of the dumb brute is often justly a matter of enthusiastic praise. It is, of course, well known that The Parader's death was due to the rotten condition of his feet, which eventually poisoned his whole system. The way into prominence as sires. The most notable examples at the present time are Gallinule, Desmond and Missel Thrush. No fee whatever was charged for Gallinule the first year or two that he was at the stud; ten years ago he was quoted at twenty-five guineas; he now commands 200 guineas. Desmond has made headway very rapidly; he, too, stands at 200 guineas, and, like Gallinule, has a "waiting list." Missel Thrush, which met with an accident in his early two-year-old days, and never appeared on a race course, was a "nobody" three or four years ago, but is now run after at ninety-five guineas. If Lord Egremont, the Duke of Grafton and other noted breeders who flourished at the beginning of the nineteenth century, were to revisit the scenes of their activity, they would stare in bewilderment at these figures. In their day a Derby winner commanded ten guineas, and no more, when he went to the stud. So recently as thirty years ago 100 guineas was the absolute limit.

That was the fee charged for Blair Athol when he was at Cobham. For three or four years he was at the head of the list of winning sires. After his son Silvio had won the Derby and St. Leger, his fee was raised to 200 guineas. Breeders with one accord shunned him forthwith, and they never patronized him again, even though his fee was promptly put back to 100 guineas, and finally to 75 guineas. If Blair Athol were living at the present time he would easily command 300 or 400 guineas. Spearmint starts stud life this next season at 250 guineas, and Orby, who is also to go to the stud at once, will command 100 guineas or more. It is also very wonderful and amazing. Can one be surprised when one hears breeders for sale complaining that they cannot make the game pay?

This year Healey will train twenty horses for men. This year Healey will train twenty horses for Mr. Wilson. For the first time we are promised a sight of the progeny of Mexican, which horse was purchased by Mr. Wilson for a high price when Mr. Clarence Mackay sold his stable at Saratoga a few years ago. The youngsters by Mexican now in Healey's care, showed better trials and are better bookers than others, but their trainer has no hopes of there being a high-class one in the lot.

But for Mr. Wilson's hasty judgment a few years ago, the great Hermis would have earned his fame in the name and colors of Healey's employer. In 1902, when Hermis was a three-year-old, Healey, acting under a standing order from Mr. Wilson, had purchased the colt from H. M. Ziegler for $10,000. He called upon his employer and informed him of the deal. "Humph, I don't want a selling plater," was Mr. Wilson's comment. Healey turned on his heel and left the United States Hotel cottage, where Mr. Wilson was living. Meeting "Jimmy" McCormick, he told him the story. "I'll take him off your hands if you don't want him," said McCormick. "Done," said Healey, and that is how the famous horse became the property of L. V. Bell, for whom that year he won all his engagements and never lost a race in his colors.

It was the following spring, at Morris Park, that Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Thomas saw Hermis and so admired him that for $40,000 he changed hands. The $60,000 story was the usual exaggeration.

McCormick, by the way, enjoys the reputation among his contemporary horsemen of being a first-class business man. From stock of a tug-boat company he collects twenty per cent. returns. He is a large land-owner down towards Coney Island, and has sold some of the plots to James Rowe and others. He has stock in several race tracks, all paying well. He is the first man down on the list for substantial sums when a fellow horseman, in hard luck, needs help. When "Daredevil" Fitzpatrick died, a subscription for his widow was gotten up by a turf paper in New York, and away off in California McCormick, then training for Burns & Waterhouse, got "Tom" Williams interested and $1,500 was gotten together in a few hours. Many a sick man has had reason to remember McCormick's thoughtfulness.

DERBY WINNERS THAT FAIL AS SIRES.

excellence of their daughters. Nobody ever took the Derby performance of Jeddah, the record "outsider," very seriously, and, though he began stud life at a fee of 100 guineas, Mr. Larnach soon realized the expediency of reducing it, and he is now advertised at fifteen guineas.

When a horse goes to the stud he very quickly finds his true level. If he has accomplished big deeds on the turf his chances are, of course, all the greater at the outset; but he is not allowed to trade on his racing reputation very long. He is judged purely by results. A long article might be written on the subject of horses which have, by sheer merit, forced their way into prominence as sires. The most notable examples at the present time are Gallinule, Desmond and Missel Thrush. No fee whatever was charged for Gallinule the first year or two that he was at the stud; ten years ago he was quoted at twenty-five guineas; he now commands 200 guineas.
